Today 10:53 PM

I pray for you Justin and I hope you get the help you need. God will forgive you as I forgive you. I don't blame you for trying to ruin my life or get me fired but you crossed the line when you put your hands on me and pj. I won't pursue you in any malicious way and I hope we can find a civil compromise either in court or otherwise. Please refrain from dragging this matter out or I'll be forced to press charges for cyber stalking and defamation. You have already admitted to tracking traffic via RFID exploits and having direct access to peoples home networks via the closet outside your door so this wouldn't be a hard matter to settle. Please leave me and my boyfriend alone. Have a nice life.
